

Elements of the theory of the time resolution spectra and photo-induced chemical processes.

Gribov L.A.

Institute of Geological Chemistry, Moscow, Russia

What we see in spectra and what we need? Experiments and models. The connection between them is the reflection of model characteristics on the class of measurable quantities: positions of spectral bands and lines. Inverse problems. Models ambiguity. Luminescence time resolution. Modern design methods (modern methods of calculation). Quantum beatings.